

Figure S15. Application of scSig signatures in HCC drug sensitivity prediction.

The relationship between scSig and drug sensitivity. Spearman correlation analysis was utilized to assess the relationship between the exposure values of scSig for each sample and IC50. The significance P-values obtained were corrected using the FDR method.